COOPER'S LAWYER, NOT SOLONS PICK FLAWS WILLIAMS, ASKED HIM NOT TO TESTIFY

Editor The Washington Times,

Washington, D. C. Sir: In The Times of the 11th, in reporting the hearing that day before the Senate Banking and Currency Committee on the confirmation of the President's nomination for Comptreller of the Currency, at which there was only one witness who testified against the confirmation-a bank official by the name of Cooper-The Times said:

"It was after Cooper had said, 'Williams had begged him not to testify,' that the decision to elamp on the lid was taken."

As that statement is wholly incorrect and does me an injustice, I respectfully ask that you make proper correction. Mr. Cooper stated at the hearing that his own attorneys had advised him not to oppose the confirmation. The facts are that when his attorneys called on me, without my solicitation, I informed them that in view of the record of the witness I would prefer to have his opposition rather than his support.

In justice to this office, I therefore respectfully ask that you make this correction. Respectfully.

JOHN SKELTON WILLIAMS,

Comptroller.

Legislation by conferees and by riders on tax bills was vigorously attacked today by leading Republican Senators, discussing the conference report on the $6,000,000,000 tax bill. Senator Penrose said tax bills are favorite vehicles for "misguided philanthrophists" who want to bring bout some reform. He cifed the tax on campaign contributions, on child labor and the bone-dry rider. Penrose said the rider giving each soldier, sailor, marine and female nurse a $60 bonus was in the same general class, but that for patriotic reasons it was left in.

Senate conferees violated Senate rules against legislation in conference. by increasing the bonus appropriation about $100,000,000, Senator Thomas Senator Penrose dissented, but Senator Smoot declared it was a clear case of conference legislation. "It is an instance of the abuse of onferees' power which has been growing in recent years," Smoot contended. "I don't want it to serve as a precedent. The only reason for it is that it takes care of the soldiers. That's all that prevents me making a point of order against it.

"Legislation by conferees must be stopped, or else Senate rules should be changed. Bills are rushed through n the closing hours of a session, comtaining matter neither House author-
